TENDER PROCEDURE FOR THE SELECTION OF EXPERTS FOR THE PROVISION OF ONLINE TRAINING PROGRAMME

I. Background to the invitation to the public procedure

Promote the talent of young European designers and integrate it into companies in the fashion sector: that is the main goal of NATIVE, an ambitious European project that was launched in four countries: Sweden, Italy, Spain, and Poland.

The project, led by the Borås City Council in Sweden, involves the participation of the Prato City Council in Italy, the Sztuk Pięknych Academy of Fine Arts in Poland, and the Catalan Fashion Cluster (MODACC). The project consortium are members of the European textile network ACTE (Textile Collectivities Association), which encompasses around thirty European institutions and municipalities with strong ties to the fashion industry. NATIVE is co-financed by the European Union's "Creative Europe" programme.

The NATIVE project (New Creative Trails) was created with the dual objective of developing the skills of designers working in the design industry sector and, at the same time, facilitating the integration of creative skills into SMEs in the fashion sector.

The project has selected ten young European designers via the European contest "Rebelpin", the ACTE network fashion award that brings out creativity and provides young creative entrepreneurs and students the opportunity to connect with the market and the textile and fashion industry. The theme of this year's edition was "Crafted 3D" and students presented projects linking innovation with the use of 3D, in unique and handmade creations, combining innovative materials and craftsmanship.

Along creative residencies during which young designers will have to develop innovative products in collaboration with selected textile companies, the Native consortium needs to organize an online training programme, consisting on a series of webinars on the following topics:

- Industrial digitization
- New business models
- Digital marketing
- Intellectual property rights
- Circular economy
- Sustainable supply chain
